

Global Directory

A Curated Global Directory of Residential Architects and Interior Designers

IGC Space connects discerning homeowners and property owners with selected residential architecture and interior design firms worldwide.

Unlike conventional business directories driven by listing volume and advertising, IGC Space emphasizes design quality, relevance, and a refined discovery experience, free from excessive advertising and unrelated information.

Selected Global Firm Listing

Our directory features residential architecture and interior design practices reflecting the values of innovation, sustainability, craftsmanship, and thoughtful responses to people and place.

We seek studios that challenge conventional thinking, embrace environmental responsibility, demonstrate material intelligence, and create meaningful residential spaces.

Organized by major cities, the directory helps homeowners discover design professionals whose expertise, philosophy, and location align with their needs.

We prioritize thoughtful selection over listing volume. Selected firms may currently be listed at no cost, with inclusion based on design merit and relevance rather than paid participation.

Project-Based Visibility & GEO Services

Every exceptional architectural project is a unique answer to a particular set of questions, shaped by its time, place, environment, and the people it serves.

A residence may solve challenges involving difficult sites, privacy, sustainability, spatial planning, or changing lifestyles. These solutions can offer valuable answers to others facing similar needs.

IGC Space provides project-based Generative Engine Optimization (GEO) and AI search visibility services for residential architecture and interior design firms.

Our approach begins with a simple idea: connect each project's answers with people searching for solutions to similar design challenges.

Through structured project narratives, geographic relevance, and clear explanations of design challenges and solutions, we help make architectural expertise easier to discover through Google, ChatGPT, Gemini, and other search platforms.

Rather than simply displaying beautiful images, we communicate the thinking behind each project and the real-world questions it answers.

Meaningful Discovery for Firms and Homeowners

IGC Space combines editorial judgment with technology-supported content organization to connect design expertise with relevant residential needs.

For architecture and interior design firms, our services provide an additional way to communicate their expertise beyond traditional portfolios.

For homeowners, our curated directory and project stories offer a more focused way to discover professionals whose work relates to their aspirations and challenges.

Who We Feature

We focus on residential architects, interior designers, and multidisciplinary studios specializing in distinctive private residences and high-end residential environments. From contemporary homes and waterfront estates to historic restorations and bespoke interiors, we seek practices demonstrating creative vision, environmental awareness, craftsmanship, and meaningful problem-solving.

Our directory grows selectively across major cities worldwide, maintaining a commitment to quality, relevance, and thoughtful discovery.
